A WARNING TO O'BRIEN.

TO INSULT LORD LANSLOWNE IS TO INSULT THE QUEEN.

Trouble Likely to Follow the Irish Editor Into Canada—The Irish Population Preparing to Welcome Him and the Orangemen Excited Over the Event.

MONTREAL, May 12.—The Gazette publishes an editorial warning William O'Brien that if he insults the governor general he does it at his own risk. It says: "The governor general stands to us in the place of the queen. To insult him in the way proposed is for us just such a crime of lese majeste as it would be in England to wage a war of vituperation against her majesty. We are bound in honor to protect him against such insult—bound by the strongest of reasons—self-respect and national pride. To insult him is to insult not only the queen's representative, but Canada and the people of Canada, whose viceroy he is. Mr. O'Brien is assuming a very serious responsibility. As a landlord we have nothing to do with Lord Lansdowne. We don't want to know anything about his tenants, or hear his business discussed. The people of Canada are not all Irish, and they have rights that should be respected. We greatly fear that if Mr. O'Brien persists he will provoke feelings of a totally different order from those which, in his rash design, he contemplated. Certainly he will not benefit Ireland. As sure as Mr. O'Brien makes the viceroy of Canada an object of attack on Canadian soil he will arouse a counter agitation which may end in God knows what deplorable complications."

The Irish population are making great preparations to welcome Mr. O'Brien. The visitors will be received by the Irish societies at the station and escorted to St. Lawrence hall, where an address of welcome will be read. Mr. O'Brien and Kilbride will deliver addresses in Albert hall. Much excitement prevails over the fear of a counter demonstration by the Orangemen and a repetition of the riots of 1878-9.

A Reception for O'Brien in Ottawa. OTTAWA, Ont., May 12.—Mr. O'Brien will arrive here Friday night, and the Irish people are preparing to give him a rousing welcome. Among Orangemen there is no little ill-feeling and they declare that any movement in the shape of a demonstration will cause bloodshed. The anti-Home Rulers have engaged all the public halls for Saturday night, hoping to spoil the plans of the reception committee, but the latter have managed to secure the theatre of the Ottawa university for Mr. O'Brien's lecture. On the return of the governor general from Toronto, a reception will be tendered him by the anti-O'Brien faction.

Objecting to O'Brien. TORONTO, Ont., May 12.—The citizens are indignant over Mr. O'Brien's visit. The mayor will call a mass meeting to consider whether it is for the interest of the city to allow Mr. O'Brien to speak here. He says he strongly condemns introducing strife-provoking questions into Canada.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS.

W. O. Bradley Will Be Nominated for Governor With John Feland Second.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—The state central committee of the Republican party met last night at the Fifth Avenue hotel and discussed the platform. The policy was generally agreed upon was like this: Favoring the Blair educational bill; against convict labor, and denouncing the Democratic party for not properly housing convicts; favoring immigration; a conservative plank on the dependent pension bill, and, if anything to positively endorse it; favoring a protective tariff strongly; a demand for the remodeling of the state constitution. There was much interest exhibited in the general, all around talk on the platform. On the question of temperance there was a good deal of discussion and the opinion was almost unanimous that the temperance question should be let alone in the resolutions. State issues are to take the place of National features.

The Republican convention met to-day at noon at Masonic Temple. A large crowd of the faithful are in the city, and were busy last night fixing things for to-day. W. O. Bradley, of Lancaster, will be nominated for governor on the first ballot, having no opposition and Gen. John Feland, of Hopkinsville, has a sure thing for lieutenant governor, if he will accept. The nominations for the other offices will be warmly contested for. The Republicans expect to make a strong fight in Kentucky this year. They claim that the Prohibition and Labor tickets will take 30,000 votes from the Democratic party, and they are greatly encouraged by the strength they displayed in the fall elections, when they carried the city of Louisville by a small majority.

Idle Phantoms Waited On.

CISCO, Tex., May 12.—The people of Rising Sun make every body work in that section of the country. Recently a family of idlers prepared their land for planting in a sloping manner. They were visited by a crowd of twenty neighbors, who compelled them to do the work over and do it well. The idlers were then warned that if they failed to plant or work their land well in the future they would be driven from the community, but assured that if they worked as other people did, they would be in no danger.

Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky.

HENDERSON, Ky., May 12.—Five hundred delegates occupied the pews of the Episcopal church this morning when the Protestant Episcopal convention for the diocese of Kentucky was called to order. Divine service, followed by the office of the holy communion, was celebrated at 10 o'clock, and the sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. M. M. Benton, of the Church of the Advent, of Louisville. The convention then organized for business.

Robbers Convicted.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 12.—Haggerty, the second Pan-Handle brakeman tried for robbing freight cars, was convicted this morning. J. F. Wright, another brakeman, entered a plea of guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

STATE AGAINST STATE.

Unusual Cases in the Courts of Georgia and South Carolina.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 12.—The cases of the forger, Blackwood, which for a time promised to be a casus belli between Georgia and South Carolina, has now assumed a phase never before known to international law. The spectacle is presented of a state becoming a litigant in one of the lower courts of a sister state. Blackwood, a resident of South Carolina, committed forgery at Augusta, Ga., and fled to his home. He was followed by Officer Edward Stone, of the Augusta police force, into whose hands the case had been placed. Stone, accompanied by John P. McNally, an official of one of the Augusta banks, and the man who cashed the forged checks, went over to Blackwood's house, and arresting him, brought him to Georgia. Stone and McNally claim that Blackwood agreed to come to Georgia without waiting for a requisition, but Blackwood's friends at once brought the matter before Governor Richardson.

The South Carolina newspapers set up a howl, charging Stone and McNally with kidnapping. Governor Richardson requested Governor Gordon to order Blackwood's release, but as the Governor of Georgia had no power to take any such step, he refused to interfere. Then indictments charging Stone and McNally with kidnapping were found in South Carolina, and a requisition was made upon the Governor of Georgia for their extradition. It happened that at the same time there were pending in Georgia courts criminal proceedings against both Stone and McNally, and under the Georgia code the executive warrants for their extradition must be suspended until the cases in the Georgia courts are tried and the sentences, if any, of these courts fully justified.

The next step in the proceedings is a suit for a writ of habeas corpus brought by Blackwood for his release. In this suit the state of South Carolina is a party, and through her governor and attorney general urge Blackwood's release, asking that the judge of the superior court of Richmond county, Georgia, where the suit was brought, "take notice of the fact that the state of South Carolina complains that her sovereign rights have been violated by the alleged kidnapping of Blackwood, and submits that a proper regard for those rights under the comity between the states should require the release of said Blackwood." South Carolina thus submits the whole question as to whether the man Blackwood was kidnapped or not to the Richmond superior court in this state. The proceedings are being watched with the greatest interest.

Effects of the Earthquake.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 12.—All through southeastern Arizona, south of the thirty-fifth parallel, there was more or less damage by the recent earthquake. In some instances houses were completely demolished. A remarkable feature was the terror displayed by animals of all kinds. Herds of cattle and horses in some instances ran like mad, in other cases they stood trembling with fear. Six persons here are known to have lost their reason since the shock, and four of them had to be confined. The fear and terror among the people, especially the ignorant classes, are still at high tension. Physicians here report many cases of mental disturbance and nervous prostration.

Peculiar Suicide.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 12.—Patrick McNulty, said to be a well-known operator and contractor, committed suicide at Kane on Saturday, which fact was not discovered until yesterday. He was missed on Saturday, and a diligent search made for him, but without success until yesterday, when his body was discovered lying on top of an oil tank in one of E. E. Mallory's tank houses, situated between Kane and West Kane. A blanket was wrapped around the body, which was lying face down, and directly over a crack in the tank covering. No reason can be assigned for the act.

A Law Injuring Women.

WATERBURY, Conn., May 12.—The new state law imposing a heavy fine for employing women or children more than ten hours a day will go into effect on July 1. In consequence merchants are giving notice to all their women clerks to quit them. This is very severe on the women, many of whom are dependent upon their work. The women talk of clubbing together and testing the constitutionality of the law which thus takes away their rights. A former Republican senator said to-day that the law was simply a political deal between the Republicans and the Labor party.

Killed His Father-in-Law.

ROCKVILLE, Ind., May 12.—Wm. Morgan, in attempting to brain his son-in-law, Wm. R. Upp, with a hatchet, was shot by the latter and instantly killed. Upp then gave himself up and is in jail, afraid to leave for fear of Judge Lynch, although no warrant has been issued for him. In 1885 Upp married Morgan's daughter, and she was burned to death last winter, leaving a six-months-old babe, which Morgan took. The father sued for and recovered his offspring. This caused the trouble which culminated in the murder.

Constitutional Convention Bill Voted.

AIRBANT, May 12.—The governor has vetoed the Arnold constitutional convention bill, the principal reason for such action being that it provided for a partisan convention, and excluded from membership representatives of the Labor Reform, Anti-Monopoly, Prohibition, License and Woman Suffrage sentiment, as well as those identified with other special interests of importance, desiring changes in the organic law of the state.

Recent to His Trust.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 12.—James Reynolds and William Rolland escaped last night from the penitentiary. Their cells were found empty and a line hanging over the walls outside, which had been scaled. Both men are noted characters. This morning a guard named Campbell was arrested, charged with assisting the escape. It is the most singular escape which ever occurred from the state prison.

The Flood Still Growing.

St. JOHN, N. B., May 12.—The freshet along the St. John river grows worse. Fredrickton is in darkness, the gas works being submerged. There is great suffering in the flooded districts, and the government has sent one of the Fredericton steam ferry boats to assist in removing live stock to high lands. The melting snow on the upper St. John is feeding the flood.

OUR WASHINGTON NEWS.

JAMES W. HYATT APPOINTED UNITED STATES TREASURER.

A Successor for Conrad N. Jordan Selected From Connecticut—Mr. Thobe Gives Up Contesting Carlisle's Seat—Illness of Judge Woods—The Hotel Men.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Unless Mr. Thobe, who ran against Speaker Carlisle for congress last fall, gives some good explanation for his delay in filing the papers in his contest for Mr. Carlisle's seat, he will be debarred from the contest. The new law in relation to election contests in congress allows thirty days after the filing of the member's certificate for the contest to reply and ninety days for taking the testimony. The period of 150 days in the contest against Mr. Carlisle expired April 23, but the clerk of the house has received no papers from Mr. Thobe.

Under the new rules Mr. Thobe can now, it is said, only get his contest before the house by unanimous consent of the members. It was reported some time ago that Mr. Thobe had decided to abandon his fight for Mr. Carlisle's seat, and the fact that he has failed to forward his testimony tends to confirm that report. Mr. Carlisle's friends, however, say he'll not allow Mr. Thobe's case to be thrown out on a technicality. He is confident an investigation will establish his election beyond a doubt.

The Hotel Men.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The delegates to the hotel men's convention gave themselves up to sight-seeing to-day. At 9 o'clock they entered carriages at Willard's hotel and were driven around the city, visiting the departments, the soldiers' home and other places of interest. At noon they reached the White House, where they were presented to the president and compliments exchanged. An excursion to Mt. Vernon on the steamer W. W. Corcoran, with a lunch on board, occupied the afternoon.

Execution of Mexican Officers.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The state department has received no official information as to the proposed execution of Mexican officers for invading our territory, and can, therefore, take no action. It is understood, however, that Secretary Bayard would be greatly shocked at the idea of execution of the men for the comparatively trivial offense, and would probably intimate, if he could properly do so, that the United States government desires no such severity of punishment.

Revenue Cutters' Instructions.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—It is said at the department of state that the instructions issued to the revenue cutters in Alaskan waters do not indicate the decision to be reached, or claims asserted by this government as to jurisdiction in Alaskan waters. The subject is still being negotiated.

Serious Illness of Judge Woods.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The condition of Associate Justice Woods, of the United States supreme court, is said to be alarming, and his friends say death may ensue at any moment. The distinguished jurist is suffering from a complication of diseases.

Not Heard of It.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—No official information has reached the department of state respecting the reported refusal of the Halifax authorities to permit an American schooner to procure provisions. It is thought the report must be inaccurate.

United States Treasurer Appointed.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The president to-day appointed James W. Hyatt, of Connecticut, to be treasurer of the United States to succeed Conrad N. Jordan, resigned.

A Mob After a Baker.

MONTREAL, May 12.—A baker named Guyon, employed by M. Teudel, was seriously injured by a mob of his striking brethren yesterday. Mme. Trudel was frightened into hysterics, and M. Trudel was beaten until insensible. Several shots were fired into the bakery by the strikers, none of which took effect. The mob dispersed before any arrests could be made.

Pardons Asked.

NOGALES, Ariz., May 12.—A petition was forwarded from this place to President Diaz asking him to pardon the prisoners who recently created a disturbance on the American side, and who were sentenced to be shot yesterday. Another petition asking President Cleveland to recommend their pardon, and one requesting him to take no such step, has been sent to Washington.

Depot Burned.

OWATONNA, Minn., May 12.—Owing to the extreme dry weather the sparks of an outgoing freight set fire to the roof of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger and freight depot last evening. The books, tickets and baggage were saved, but the freight was all burned. The amount of loss could not be ascertained.

Governor Hill and Coercion.

ELMIRA, N. Y., May 12.—Governor Hill called at a large anti-coercion meeting last night and made a speech vigorously denouncing the policy of the Salisbury government. Letters of sympathy were read from ex-Governor Robinson and others. Rev. T. K. Beecher, Senator Fassett and others also spoke.

A Legacy to Colored Children.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 12.—Daniel C. Hand, of Guilford, Conn., to whom George W. Williams, of this city, has restored property worth $100,000 to settle what Mr. Williams considered to be a debt of honor, has made a will in which he has provided that as his death the interest of $100,000 out of his estate shall be devoted perpetually to the education of the colored children of the south. Mr. Hand is eighty-eight years old.

Barbed Wire Dealers Fail.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Shabel & Co. and Sherman & Marsh, manufacturers and dealers in barbed wire, failed this afternoon. Sherman & Marsh's liabilities are $448,000; assets, $250,000; Schnabel & Co., next door to them, have liabilities of $303,000; assets, $183,000. The firms are practically one. The immediate cause of the failure, it is said, is the interstate commerce law.

THROUGH FIRE AND BLOOD.

The New Mississippian Takes Up the Cause of the Murdered Editor.

JACKSON, Miss., May 12.—The New Mississippian, published by the Martin Brothers in the same building where the Sword and Shield, Gambrell's paper, is published, yesterday came out with two columns of editorials on the tragedy. The headlines are a fair index to the entire article. They read as follows: "The slaughter of R. D. Gambrell; Col. Jones Hamilton, with four accessories, hunt down the brave young editor of the Sword and Shield, and surround and murder him."

The whole affair is then treated of in the strongest possible language, concluding as follows: "It is not improbable that soon another shot will ring out in the night and another cornerer's jury go their solemn work, but if the men who have recently done their deed think that they can place their bloody hands over these papers, which have determined to speak out and muzzle and terrify the silence of ignominy, they have earned the Sword and Shield will go on with its warfare for truth over the grave of this hero. That paper will go out with arraignments of the guilty as terrible as before."

"There are three editors on this paper, and each one is willing to lay down his life, if it must be, rather than to falter in a journalist's duty and be prevented from publicly advocating the principles he honestly cherishes. And then some one bolder and braver than we will take hold of the paper we have left and carry the struggle on and on with all the bitter and awful determination of invincible right and warring against wrong." The Sword and Shield, the dead editor's paper, will soon appear again, and there is great interest felt as to what it will say.

A Probable Clew.

CLEVELAND, O., May 12.—Thomas Pattison, aged twenty-seven, hailing from Chicago, was locked up yesterday for attempting to ravish Mary O'Dell, a servant at 1091 Prospect avenue. During her conversation with the prosecutor about the case, the girl told a startling story, which, if true, will clear up the Maggie McCarthy case, that has been puzzling the police. Miss O'Dell says that on the night of the murder she rode up town on the same car with Maggie, who alighted at Case avenue, and started toward Sibley street. As the girl turned the corner two men stepped out of the shadow and followed her. One of them turned around, and by the light of the lamp she saw it was Pattison. A day or two after this Miss O'Dell noticed that the coachman where she was employed was taking food to the barn, and she soon discovered that Pattison was concealed there. She met him while going through the cellar and he attempted to assault her. Hence the arrest. Pattison denies that the girl saw him on the night of the murder.

Not a Strike at This Time.

TAMAQUA, Pa., May 12.—While there is a feeling of dissatisfaction among the miners throughout this region, the prevalent opinion among the more experienced is that a strike will not be made at this time. The demand for 10 per cent. increase in wages was made to show dissatisfaction with the wages, and not upon the idea of having it granted at this time, when the companies have a surplus of coal on hand. If a strike takes place it is thought it will occur later in the season. The men went to work as usual this morning.

A Long Ocean Race.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The clipper ship Seminoles, of Sutton's California Despatch, was towed out from the foot of Fletcher street yesterday, and started down the river all ready to begin her 8,000 mile race with the clipper Charming, of the New York and California line, which lay at the foot of Wall street. Then a tug took hold of the Charming and dragged her after the Seminoles. The race began when the tugs let go. The race is around Cape Horn to San Francisco and will take from 120 to 140 days.

International Y. M. C. A. Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Delegates from nearly every state in the Union and about twenty from Canada, have arrived to attend the twenty-seventh international convention of Young Men's Christian associations. The delegates are met at the trains by committees of the local associations and conducted to the hotels and boarding houses, where accommodations have been provided them. The convention opens this afternoon and closes on Sunday.

Almost Like Chicago in 1872.

HAVERHILL, Mass., May 12.—About midnight last night a fire occurred at Newton village, in the livery stable of G. H. Hoyt. Owing to the delay in getting the engines from Haverhill the fire extended to the Twilight hotel, Craft's meat market, H. E. Hartford's carriage factory, all of which were totally destroyed as well as about twenty other buildings. The loss will reach $25,000. The fire was caused by a horse kicking over a lighted lantern.

Virginia's Foreign Bonds.

RICHMOND, Va., May 12.—W. L. Royall, resident counsel for the foreign bondholders has had a conference with Speaker Stuart, of the debt commission, and made a proposition which Mr. Stuart says will be satisfactory to the commission. Mr. Royall has cabled the foreign bondholders asking authority to present the offer, and Mr. Stuart has promised to withhold the report until a reply to the cablegram shall have been received.

PEORIA, Ill., May 12.—The large grain drill and machinery works of Shelby, Starr & Co., occupying nearly a block of ground, were destroyed by fire last night. The fire started in the adjoining paint shop of Nicol Barr & Co., which was also consumed. Shelby, Starr & Co.'s loss will exceed $100,000; insurance $50,000.

In Secret Session.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The board of review of the National Trotting association went into secret session at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday evening, to consider the case of Secretary Vail, but as there was a great deal of other important business to be attended to the Vail matter was postponed for the present.

James McElroy Resisted.

LOUISVILLE, May 12.—James McElroy, who was to have been hanged at Henderson next Friday, has been respite until July 1.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

THE DAILY BULLETIN will be delivered to any part of the city at 6 cents a week, or one year for $3.

THE DAILY BULLETIN to any postoffice in the United States, postage prepaid, at twenty-five cents per month or three dollars per year.

THURSDAY EVEN'G, MAY 12, 1887.

Who's been "vindicated" this time?

"WELL—if it be so—so it is, you know; and if it be so, so be it."

THE Democracy of Pennsylvania is strongly in favor of renominating Cleveland.

SENATOR MCPHERSON, of New Jersey, thinks the renomination of Cleveland is a foregone conclusion.

THE indications are very strong that the people of Maysville will have gas at 75 cents a thousand for a while longer at least.

KENTUCKY seems to be in need of a Governor who will stop granting pardons and remitting fines every time he is asked to do so.

THE Ohio Natural Gas, Oil and Mining Company has been incorporated at Covington with a capital of $1,000,000. The object is to deal and operate in gas, oil, coal, iron, &c.

THE evidence in the contested election case against Speaker Carlisle has not yet been filed at Washington, and the indications are that Mr. Thobe has abandoned the contest.

GENERAL BUCKNER will make his headquarters at Lexington during the coming State campaign. If an active and thorough canvass on his part will increase the Democratic majority, it will be increased.

THE Fayette Court of Claims refused to submit the proposition to subscribe $200,000 to the Kentucky Union Railroad to the voters of that county, and the citizens of Lexington are highly indignant.

JUDGING from reports sent out from Morehead, Craig Tolliver is running things up that way to suit himself now-a-days, notwithstanding his contract to keep away from Rowan. "It's a long lane what never turns around."

THE boom doesn't seem to be entirely dead at Birmingham. The Elyton Land Company and the Sloss Furnace Company appropriated $1,000,000 one day last week to put up new enterprises. Money talks, and any town will boom as long as such appropriations can be had.

ANENT the gas controversy, our able contemporary, the Republican, announced the other day that "the agony is over." Yesterday's issue of that paper conveys the impression that the agony has just begun, and the "senior editor" is apt to have several "duckfits" before it is ended.

JUDGE S. G. SHARP, of Lexington, is favorably mentioned as the next Secretary of State, under General Buckner. He is Chairman of the State Central Committee, and was a warm supporter of the General during the late canvass. In this connection, we might add that there may be a candidate from Mason County for this office, and a very strong one, too.

"Gas companies," remarks the Kansas City Times, "never pretend to be making money, but occasionally they take the public into their confidence sufficiently to admit that they have been running at a loss and cannot possibly lower rates without ruin to themselves. The statement is made that gas in England is manufactured at a net cost of forty-six cents per thousand feet, and at the penitentiary of Ohio where gas works have been put in, gas is produced at a net cost of fifteen cents per thousand feet. These may be extreme instances of cheap production but they serve to indicate the cost of making gas. The demand for a reduction in the price of gas is seldom unreasonable."

"A voice comes from Columbus, O.," says the Louisville Times, "denouncing the Democracy of Kentucky for not nominating an ex-Federal soldier for Governor, instead of an ex-Confederate. There are few ex-Federals in this State who are in the Democratic ranks. Buell is provided with a fat office. Wolford has done yeoman service for the Democratic party, and during the past four years he has held an office, to which he was chosen by Democratic votes, and which paid him $5,000 per annum. Marcum was on the State ticket a few years ago, and now holds a Federal office. Before he died, Rousseau was sent to Congress by Democratic votes. When we consider that nine of every ten ex-Federal soldiers of Kentucky are in the Republican party, those of them who are in the Democratic ranks have been well rewarded for their fealty to that party."

"Lumber Yard and Coal House, of America."

"There are two natural products," says a Louisville correspondent in the Chicago Inter-Ocean, "that ought to make Kentucky within the next fifty years the richest State in the Union, surpassing Pennsylvania in her own field, and equalling New York in the diversity and wealth of agricultural products. This State is the lumber yard and coal house of America. Its hard wood forests are large enough to supply the world for a century. Coal for manufacturing purposes is cheaper at Louisville than in Pittsburgh. In fact, you may buy Pittsburgh coal in Louisville considerably cheaper than you can in Pittsburgh. This is because Louisville has the benefits of competition from coal mines about her, while Pittsburgh consumers have none. The Kentucky coal checks the prices of Pittsburgh, and vice versa. The average cost of coal for manufacturing purposes is about $1.50 per ton, which includes the very best sort of coal for all heating and steam purposes. A large rolling-mill concern was moved to Louisville recently from St. Louis. The proprietor stated that on a consumption of 1,200 bushels per day his saving in Louisville was $30 per day."

The Republican State Ticket.

The Republican State convention at Louisville was a small affair compared with the Democratic outpouring. The following is the ticket: For Governor, William O. Bradley, of Garrard County; Lieutenant Governor, Mathew O'Doherty, of Louisville; Attorney General, John Feland, of Christian County; Auditor, R. D. Davis, of Carter County; Treasurer, J. R. Puryear, of McCracken County; Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. H. Childers, of Pulaski County; Register of Land Office, T. J. Tinsley, of Muhlenburg County.

The Democratic State Ticket.

The ticket is a good one and will be elected by an increased majority.—Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat.

There is not a man on it whose name and fame is not above reproach.—Louisville Democrat.

The Democratic party of Kentucky is to-day in better condition than it has been for years. The State ticket is hailed with enthusiasm. The people care nothing about the platform.—Covington Commonwealth.

The State Democratic ticket is eminently Kentuckian, and all true, genuine old and young Democratic Kentuckians will vote it from "cend to cend."—Newport State Journal.

Personal.

Jacob Speyer, of Lexington, was here yesterday on business.

Rev. R. B. Garrett and wife and James H. Hall and wife have returned from Louisville.

Charles Phister is at home after a sojourn of two or three weeks with his son, at Charleston, W. V.

Ben. H. Robinson, County Attorney of Nicholas, was down yesterday from Carlisle on legal business.

"Nip't in the Bud!"

Sad to say, many a good thing attains to nothing more than a fair beginning. On the other hand it is a matter for congratulation that the growth of some evil things may be also promptly frustrated. A large proportion of the cases of the most widespread and fatal of diseases—consumption have their inception in nasal catarrh. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is pleasant, soothing and effectual. Try it. It has cured thousands. All druggists.

A Printer's Error.

Sweet are the uses of adversity, the printer's copy said, but he set it up, sweet are the uses of advertising. Sweet, indeed, to those who in sickness and suffering have seen the advertisement of some sovereign remedy, which upon that trial has brought them from death's door. "The best thing I ever saw in my paper was the advertisement of Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery'." It is again and again the testimony of those who have been healed by it of lung disease, bronchial affections, tumors, ulcers, liver complaints and the ills to which flesh is heir.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free trial bottles of this standard remedy at the drug stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell, & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

AT AN ARMY POST.

A YOUNG LADY'S EXPERIENCE ON THE MEXICAN FRONTIER.

Life Among the Picturesque Greasers. A Couple of Remarkable Border Towns—The Downtrodden and Contemptible Burro—Dancing at a Fort.

When I first came down here, from long and bitter experience, I flew to shut the accidentally left open door, and somehow the chair nearest the fireplace generally managed to enfold me. But when no unpleasant draught greeted my astonished self, and my face grew uncomfortably warm in my corner, it slowly dawned upon me that Texas was not Illinois—a fact I had never wasted much brain power in contemplating before—and when fresh strawberries, pineapples and vegetables appeared on the daintily laid table of my charming hostess, I felt that the world was no longer hollow or my doll stuffed with sawdust.

I expected to find many strange and curious things here, but verily the half had not been told. The streets are full of Mexicans dressed in their own picturesque fashion, with their bright colored serapes flung jauntily over their shoulders and their broad brimmed hats covered with silver tinsel and no end of cord and tassels. But the picturesqueness is confined to the men. For the women wear somber hued shawls drawn over their heads and covering the lower parts of their faces. I do not know why they take such precautions, for, as half of them have had smallpox, their beauty is not of the startling or dazzling order. They generally crouch in doorways or down in the very dust of the street when they are at home in their own town of Paso del Norte, but they bring their primitive manners and customs with them when they cross the river into the United States.

The hands and feet of even the commonest Mexican are remarkably small, and such marvelously high heels as they wear! It gives them simply no gait at all. A Mexican man cannot walk, anyway. He shuffles his feet along and bends his knee at every step, until if you watch him long, so loosely jointed and limber does he appear, you find yourself wondering if his knees won't bend backward with equal facility, and if his elbow is not a ball and socket joint.

LIFE AMONG THE GREASERS.

I was surprised to discover what a low position the Mexican holds socially. I am told that a negro who marries a Mexican woman immediately loses caste among his fellows, and is henceforth ostracized.

The long bridge across the wandering, capricious and strictly feminine Rio Grande connects two remarkable towns. Once on the other side, you seem to have stepped back into the past a century or two. You find adobe houses, surrounded by mud walls, instead of fences, and these walls surmounted by hundreds of cactus plants in lieu of our more modern if less effective barb wire. It is no uncommon sight to see a two wheeled cart with each wheel heven out of a solid log. Their fuel is chiefly mesquite, the wide spreading roots of a low, stunted tree, and their wells are certainly unique. After they strike water, instead of lowering a bucket for it, they make an inclined plane with steps in it, so that they can walk comfortably down into the well, fill their bucket and climb out again, so it has been wittily said that Mexico is a country where they dig for wood and climb for water.

The natives always use burros for carrying their mesquite, and they trudge behind on foot. There is something very pathetic about the four footed inhabitants of Mexico. The sight of the pleading look in the eyes of a burro nearly makes me weep. He always looks so downtrodden, so meek, so contemplative. Their ponies excite equal sympathy. They wear their heads low—very low—and they always have burrs in their tails. To me there is something appealing about a horse with burrs in his tail, because I cannot imagine a high spirited horse, one who had an atom of family pride or self respect, having them there.

Of course thus far I have only referred to the lower class of Mexicans. The aristocracy are very different. They pay more attention to rank and caste than we do, and have exquisite manners. A man may be a perfect brute at home—he may even beat his wife—but in public his manners with both men and women would put Lord Chesterfield to the blush.

DANCING AT A FORT.

There are Mexican troops stationed across the river in Paso del Norte, and Fort Bliss, about a quarter of a mile from this city, is the headquarters of the Tenth Infantry; consequently the officers exchange civilities quite frequently. At the first of a series of hops given at Fort Bliss all the Mexican officers were invited; but no one under the rank of major was allowed to attend. One poor little senorita who was present was very pensive, for a hop room, and when I was asked the cause I was told that she was engaged to the captain on her father's staff and he was not of sufficient rank to come. She did not look over 12 years old, with her frock only reaching to the top of her tiny high-heeled, white satin boots, but any age is considered marriageable in Mexico. I was particularly impressed with the charming manners of the Mexican officers and grandees of Paso del Norte that night. When one of them, a major, was introduced to me he bowed very low and said: "A los pies de V., senorita," which is the usual charming salutation, meaning "At your feet, senorita;" and in duty bound I answered, "Beso a la mano, caballero," which is the regulation retort, meaning "I kiss your hand, sir." But I didn't do it; that was only an idle threat. He wished to dance with me, but didn't understand our plan of having hop cards, for at their balls the first one who gets to a girl dances with her.

They have no introductions of any kind. Every man is supposed to be a gentleman and every woman a lady, and you mortally offend a man if you refuse to dance with him. So when it was explained to him that my card was full he meekly asked for the first extra, and with a very flowery compliment, which he did not in the least mean, but which hurt neither one of us and was very pretty, he excused himself. As the programme was very long we had no extras, and he came up almost in tears to express his unavailing regret. One would have thought a nation's fate depended on that man's making me dizzy in one of their waltzes, for they never reverse. He was very handsome and used his eyes in a most fetching manner, but I thought in all probability he had a wife and ten children over in his adobe house, and the scene changed. I enjoyed it hugely, but I should think such extravagance of language might become wearing.—El Paso Cor. Chicago News.

W. N. Rudy at Louisville.

In its account of the celebration of the eighteenth anniversary of the Knights of Pythias in Kentucky, at Louisville, May 9th, the Courier-Journal says: "After another selection from Fiechorn's orchestra, Grand Chancellor W. N. Rudy was introduced by Judge Thompson. Mr. Rudy is a tall, distinguished looking gentleman with a strong, clear voice, and at once attracted the audience and kept it with him throughout his interesting ten minutes' speech. He began by saying that he arrived from his home in Covington at noon, and not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when he saw a printed programme, did he know he was expected to speak. He had raised his voice often he said, but this was the second attempt he had ever made at public speech-making. 'I would like,' he said, 'to explain the organization of the Knights of Pythias and the beauties of Pythianism, but words would fail me, and I have not the language strong enough to express my thoughts. But I can not help speaking a few words in behalf of the order so dear to my heart. In 1864, when war was hovering over the land, and man struggling against man, and before the sounds of cannon and musketry this order was formed. It succeeded, and even before the din of battle was hushed the blue and gray were kneeling in brotherly love at a Pythian altar. From then the growth of the order was onward and upward, until to-day it stands high and ranks third as the most powerful benevolent order in the world. The mighty oak, the monarch of the forest, sprang but from an acorn, and the first seed sown was prolific in this great order. Like the oak, it is strong and mighty. I would like to talk about the story of Damon and Pythias, but there are others to follow me.'"

The "Maysville syndicate" alluded to in a dispatch from Muncie, Ind., didn't pay $100,000 for the real estate they recently bought in that city, but it's worth that much now—in their minds. The "syndicate" is composed of four of Maysville's shrewdest speculators.

The Court of Appeals has decided "that a street-car company is liable for any injury sustained by a passenger, not due to any fault of his, and which could not have been avoided by the company's servants." The decision was rendered in a case taken up from Louisville.

The delegates to the Southern Baptist convention at Louisville were a liberal set of folks. "While in session the other evening," says the Post, "a Spanish missionary from Cuba addressed the audience in broken English, and in a few minutes over $4,000 was subscribed for the church in that island. Ministers gave of their salaries, ladies of their pin-money—the enthusiasm for giving seemed to capture all classes. Religion that touches the pocket-book is more apt to be sincere than any other kind."

OBITUARY.

Died, Friday, May 6, 1887, at Tollesboro, Ky., Mary, wife of A. H. Parker, Esq., aged thirty-eight years.

Calmly, peacefully, almost with rejoicing, she passed that bourne from whence no wayfarer returns. "I will soon be asleep with Jesus," were the last words that she uttered. Mrs. Parker's maiden name was Wallingford. She was born in Tollesboro, May 23, 1848, in the house in which she died, and on the 25th of September, 1871, in the same house, she was married. Naturally of a delicate organization, she was at no time in life very stout, though no uneasiness regarding her health was felt by those near to her until within the past few years. During the last year, more alarming symptoms of declining health were perceptible, and in December last, by the advice of friends and the direction of her physician, she was taken to Florida, the hope being indulged that a winter in that Mecca of invalids would restore her shattered health, and during her stay there, words of encouragement and assurance came back, and the belief was entertained that the improvement reported was of a permanent character, and that she would be spared to her friends yet many years. Her return in early spring, and her rapid decline, soon dissipated the hope that the result of the Southern trip had inspired. And, notwithstanding that all hope of her recovery had been abandoned days before her demise, the news of her death, which reached here on Saturday (May 7th), was really a shock to our people, and expressions of sorrow and regret were heard on every hand.

The deceased had been a member of the Christian Church since her youth, and had all her life been an active, sincere, consistent Christian, as her walk and work gave evidence. In the mid-day of life her tired heart ceased its throbbings, and she sleeps with the silent majority, to awaken only when the trump of the arch-angel shall summon all the sons of men to appear for judgment.

Endowed with a kind and affectionate disposition, the deceased through life cultivated all the virtues that grace and adorn womanhood. And while she had a large circle of friends by whom she was esteemed and beloved, her home was her world, and in the domestic circle she found her greatest happiness, and to the husband and three children now bereft, she was singularly devoted. To that husband in his great affliction, to whom poor feeble words can bring but little solace, to the orphaned children yet unable to realize the magnitude of their loss, to all the kindred of the departed one, who are thus made to mourn, the sympathies of this people go out, accompanied by the prayer that He who rules the storm and notes the sparrow's fall, will in His own good time heal the hearts now sore.
